FOREWORD

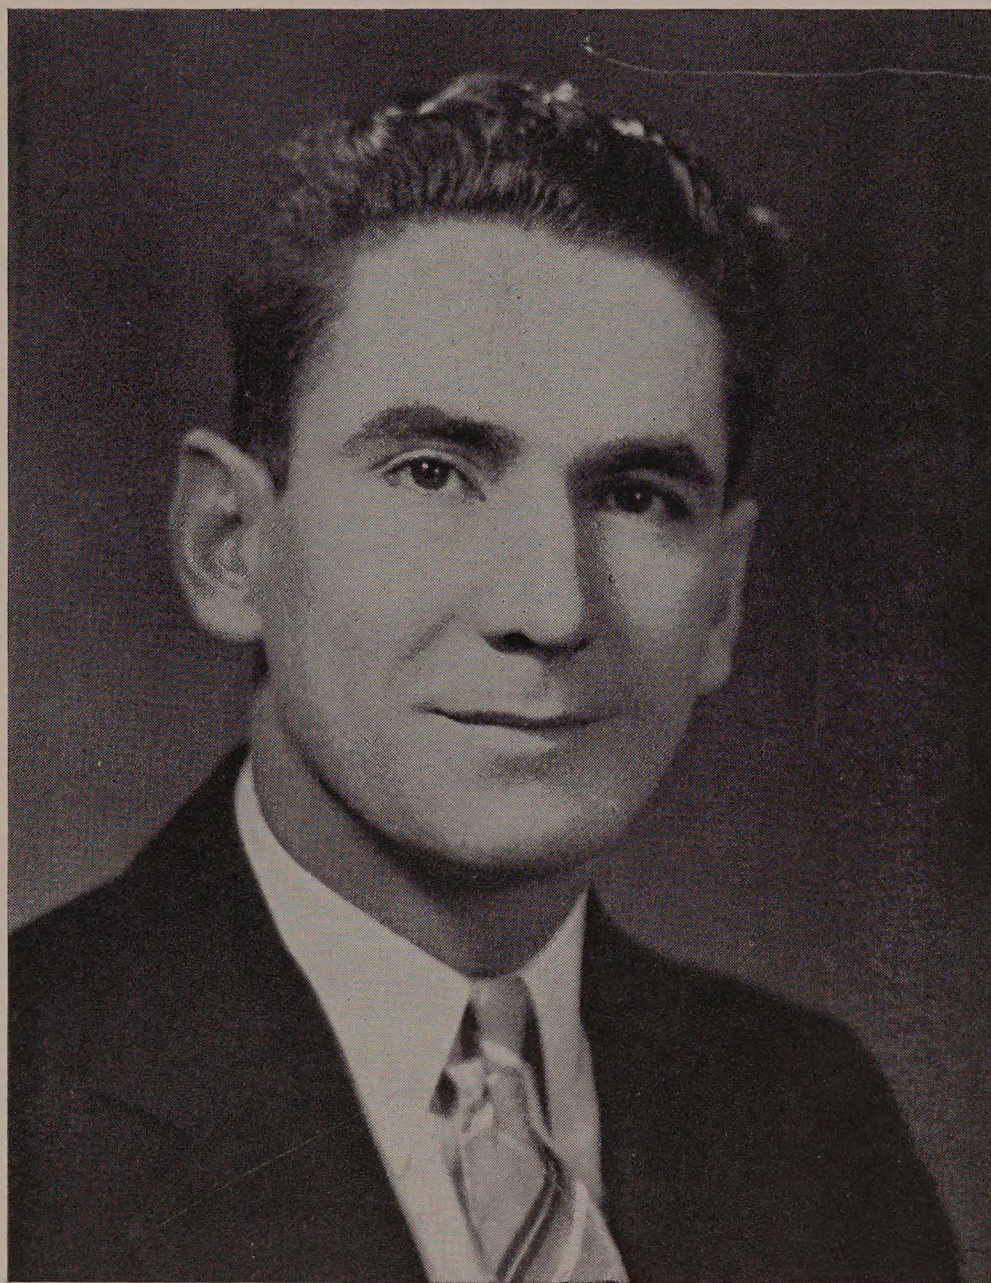

As we, the students of the Senior Class of the Joseph Case High School, embark on our varied careers, the realization that the destiny of not only the United States but of the entire democratic world lies before us. Our class also realizes how much our past four years have qualified us to meet this responsibility.

As a lasting remembrance the Senior Class leaves this Year Book of 1948.

ARTHUR A. BEAUDRY "48"

"Editor-In-Chief"

DEDICATION

To Gerard Dalton, for his five years of service, which have endeared him because of his kindly assistance and complete interest in the bettering of Joseph Case High School and its students, the Senior Class respectfully dedicates this Year Book of 1948.

To our Superintendent, Mr. Richard B. Greenman, whose intelligence and leadership have paved the way for our future undertakings, we, the Class of '48, extend our gratitude.

To our Principal, Miss Helen A. Reagan, a kind friend, whose beneficence and understanding have won her the esteem of all students, we, the Class of '48, express our sincere appreciation.

Class History

The Cardinal Limited, with seventy-six passengers accounted for, began its four year journey in September, 1944, with Miss Reagan as Starter.

Soon after the locomotive was put into commission, Antone Aguiar was welcomed as Chief Engineer; Frank Santos, as Fireman; Robert Barrow, as Conductor; and Florence Ingram, as Comptroller.

At our first stop, The Valentine Dance, we were derailed by the scarlet fever epidemic. Fate, again handed us a set back when on Friday, April thirteenth, the "Sweatheart Hop" was postponed when the sudden news of the president's death turned the country into a state of mourning. Before the first lap of our journey was completed, our much-publicized dance was finally held and proved to be highly successful, both financially and socially.

With New York as our destination and only two scheduled social activities, the second part of our journey was finally completed.

We started our third lap of the journey with new home office executives. Various stops were made along the way; selling of greeting cards, Football Hop, and the Junior Prom. All passengers were very pleased to display the class ring which distinguished us as the Class of "48."

On the last lap of our journey the position of Starter was passed to Mr. Brooks, who has since guided us wisely. Edward Lavagnino was promoted to the office of Fireman. The Class of "48," now being the most seasoned train on the rails at Case, took full command with the orders to "open throttle" with the New York skyline just ahead.

All members of the crew wish to thank Mr. Greenman, our "High Executive," all our Engineers, the Faculty, and Mr. Brooks, our Starter, for guiding our train so expertly.

Florence Ingram
Class Secretary.

Class Prophecy

While searching through the attic yesterday, I discovered an old, tarnished lamp. There was an inscription on the side, and when I rubbed it so that I could read it better, a puff of yellow and green smoke arose and a strange character appeared. He looked at me and said in a deep voice with an Arabian accent, "I am the genie of the lamp, and I will award one wish to the benefactor who released me from my prison. What is your desire?"

"Can you take me into the future," I asked.

"I can try," he said.

"Then take me to Swansea, 1968," I replied.

"Your wish is my command," he said slowly, and the next instant I was soaring through a sunny sky on a flying carpet.

I was rapidly approaching a city of gigantic proportions, and, in a few minutes, my craft alighted on the roof of a skyscraper. I knew immediately that this was Swansea when I read the sign, "Swansea Water Department", printed on the side of an airplane. I learned later that Swansea had solved the water situation by providing everyone with a bucket and using an airplane to drop dry ice on the clouds twice a day.

I hailed a helicopter hovering nearby, and was very much surprised to find Bob Cook at the controls. He told me he owned the "Airway Taxi Service" and had been very successful. I told him I was seeking information about the Class of "48," and asked him if he would help me. He said that he would, and we decided to make our first stop Case High School.

On the way Bob told me Betty Burrell was quite an artist now, and that she had recently made a trip to England to paint the Royal Family. I learned, also, that Johnny Dowling had made a million, speculating in grain, and now lived on an island in the South Pacific, which he appropriately calls "Dowlingville."

Arriving at the high school, we discovered it had the "new look". It was now a ten-story granite building, and had a football and baseball field on the roof. We went to the superintendent's office and asked the secretary, who happens to be our Dolores Silva, if she could tell us anything about the Class of "48". She told us that Florence Ingram, Jack Midwood, and Margie MacDonald all worked in the high school; Florence, as an English teacher; Jack, as coach of athletics; Margie, as cafeteria supervisor. She also told us that Freddy Martin was a disc jockey on a local radio station, and Paulette Thibault and Dolores Pannoni had become famous typists in the White House.

Thanking Dolores for the information, we went into the gym, which was an immense structure with a seating capacity of ten thousand. There we saw Jack coaching the basketball team in a practice session. He stopped when he saw us and we asked him how the team was doing. He replied, "They're a little off in their shooting; they only beat Durfee 97 to 23 last night."

Before we left, Jack told us that Tony "Atom" Aguiar had taken over the regular shortstop position for the Boston Red Sox, and in his first year had set a new league batting record by hitting .432. Also, Ed Souza and Gene Moniz now have an orchestra, which they call the "Starsweepers".

Cruising along toward Fall River, we noticed a familiar figure thumbing a ride from the top of a nearby buldng. It was Larry Turner. We stopped and pcked him up and I asked him what he was doing. He answered, "I have been running a flea circus, but it went to the dogs. I'm on my way to see the famous cowboy, Frank Santos, ride "Big Sid" at the Fall River Stadium, and Lucretia Matthews, the great horseback rider and editor of "Goodhorsekeeping Magazine."

Just then Bob noticed a sign on a window which said "Dr. Beaudry, Surgeon, Special Every Wednesday Cut Rate Prices." Going into the building, we asked the receptionist, who was Theresa Casolla, if the Doc were busy. Receiving a negative answer, we entered his office, and there we saw Art reading Matt Robert's, the well-known psychologist's book, which had the grotesque title "Procrastinations and Idiosyncrasies of an Unsubstantiated Schizophreniac".

Art told us that he knew what all the members of the Class of "48" were doing, except one. In addition to what we had already found out, he added the following:

Everett Farrell was piloting a trans-Atlantic Airliner, and on the same plane Jeanne Duchemin and Lillian Travers were air hostesses.

Not being able to follow the occupation he wanted, Bob Barrow had turned to radio acting. He was playing the part of "Digger Odell" on the "Life of Riley" program.

Jessie Casilli and Claire Barker have made good connections. They had become telephone operators.

Stanley Hunt had turned his hobby into his life's work. He was manufacturing pin ball machines.

Charlie Davis was a short order cook in one of the local restaurants, where Dot Moglia and Barbara Freeborn were waitresses, and Dot Hunt, the cashier.

George Gardner had become a busdriver for the New England Transportation Co., and when asked why he had chosen busdriving as a career, he answered, "I like to tell people where to get off."

Barbara Goss and Ruth Warburton were now nurses, and were practicing at the Fall River Watch Hospital.

After many years of extensive planning and building, James McCarthy had finally completed his rocket ship with which he hoped to reach the moon. Among the first volunteers, willing to make this daring trip, were Buddy Orrall and Bill Reynolds.

Jimmy Senay and Al Kershaw, having been in the Navy quite some time, were now recruiting officers, and were trying to tempt qualified young men into joining the service.

Joan Kenworthy and Leonard Stone were both employed by the town of Swansea; Joan as a social worker, and Leonard as a dog catcher.

Charlie Couchaine, as expected, was now a nuclear chemist, and was working for the government out at Oak Ridge, Tennessee. We were happy for him, because out there when he talked about bevatons, plutonium, and isotopes of hydrogen, someone understood him.

After working as a super salesman for the Curtis Publishing Company, Charlie Sowter, by his aggressiveness, now owned it, and in social circles is called the "magazine magnate".

The girl with the "Gift of Gab", Joanne Marr, had gone to Hollywood, along with Annamae Daley and Paul Sprague. Joanne had succeeded Louella Parsons, as the Hollywood reporter. Annamae and Paul, on the other hand, were now acting for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. They could be seen, co-starred, in the latest hit, "Love Nest". Red Harrington, believe it or not, was now in the funny papers. He was working as a model for the artist who drew the comic strip, "Sad Sack."

"Well that takes care of all but one of our number," said Art. "I can't seem to find out what Johnny Norton is doing." At that moment Larry called us over to the window, and pointed his finger up into the sky. A blimp was floating by with these words written boldly on the side; "Try Norton's Atomic Bubble Gum. You'll get a bang out of it."

Having accomplished my mission, Bob took me back to the building upon which I had landed, and there, stepping on my flying carpet, and waving good-bye, I soared into the blue, thinking how glad I was that the forty-eight members of the Class of "48" had found their special star in the sky of life.

Ed Lavagnino

Class Will

We, the members of the Class of 1948 of the Joseph Case High School of Swansea, Massachusetts, do hereby proclaim this to be our last will and testament:

To the Faculty: The Class of '48 leaves the thanks and appreciation of all its members for their undying efforts in trying to teach us anything. Most of us were pretty hopeless at times.

To the Juniors: We leave all the knowledge acquired in our four years stay at Case. We also leave them our ability to handle the teachers; that they will need if they all want to pass.

To our old and faithful friends, the Sophomores, we bestow our tactfulness and good manners. We hope they will use them on next year's sophomore class.

To the little Freshmen: Don't have too good a time at Case. It sometimes pays to get a few A's. Doesn't it?

To the school: We leave the peace and quiet so justly due it.

The Students leave other treasures which are as follows:

Tony Aguiar leaves his "butch" to Carl Walsh.

Claire Barker leaves her red hair to Loretta Machado.

Robert Barrow bestows his treasurer's books to someone who keeps his marks up and is able to keep the job.

Art Beaudry doesn't want to leave; he wants to wait around another few years. Wonder what for?

Betty Burrell bequeaths her artistic talents to Jane Murray.

Theresa Cassola leaves her earrings to Pauline Levesque.

Bob Cook departs sadly from Miss Reagan's sixth period English class.

Charlie Courchaine leaves his brains to someone who needs them—like Norman Cardoso.

Annamae Daley bequeaths her sweet voice and lovely smile to Adelaide Manning.

Charlie Davis and Dot Moglia leave as expected—together!

Jeanne Duchemin leaves her friendly manner to Ruth Martel.

Johnny Dowling just leaves.

Everett Farrell leaves still trying to explain about South America and Spain to Jim Senay and Mr. Brooks.

Barbara Freeborn leaves her quietness to June Little.

George Gardner and Leonard Stone leave with the Navy hot on their trail.

Barbara Goss leaves her dignity to Beverly Miller.

Donald Harrington leaves to join some of his pals, last year's graduates.

Dot Hunt departs leaving Mr. Bannister wondering about all those absence marks in Health.

Stanley Hunt runs before anyone invites him to come back.

Florence Ingram leaves the Cheering Squad without an Ingram on it. Come on Eileen!

Joan Kenworthy leaves seeking a job with the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Al Kershaw goes without Miss Reagan having to tell him to get into his own seat at 2:13.

Eddie Lavagnino leaves his seat in French III to some poor Junior.

Margy MacDonald leaves the cafeteria shorthanded. We think Claire Talbot fits the position nicely.

Joanne Marr leaves to the delight of all teachers.

Lucretia Matthews leaves the Chorus without a good alto.

Jim McCarthy leaves Mrs. Papandrea with all his excuses for being late first period.

Fred Martin leaves his ability to do compositions to all the Seniors who have Miss Reagan for English next year.

Bill Reynolds leaves to go hunting beavers.

Matt Roberts and Paul Sprague leave the Lunch check business for something profitable.

Jack Mdwood leaves his pitching arm to next year's baseball team.

George Orrall leaves all his tire marks in the back yard.

Dolores Pannoni leaves many good friends.

Frank Santos leaves his athletic ability to be divided among the future Case High Teams.

Dolores Silva leaves her glasses to Bob Swain so he will be able to see Mr. Greenman coming after him at lunch.

Eddy Souza leaves to get a job with the Ink Spots.

Paulette Thibault leaves all the A's she got to some unfortunate person who is flunking.

Charlie Sowter leaves all the Touisset magazine subscriptions to Bob Worthen, so he can pursue the prize next year.

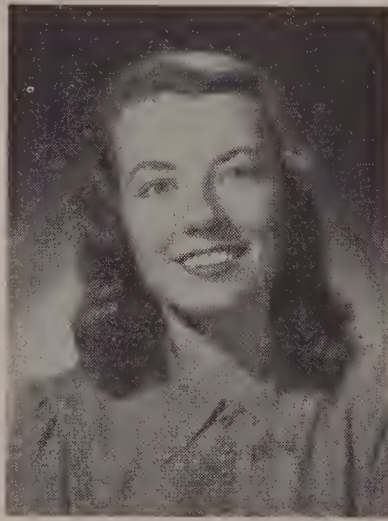

Lawrence Turner leaves his "cute giggle" to Sam Buffington.

Ruth Warburton leaves her seat on the Touisset Bus to her sister, Nancy.

Written, signed, sealed, and delivered this tenth day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and forty-eight.

GOD SAVE THE SENIOR CLASS!

JOANNE MARR,
Doorkeeper of Inner Sanctum

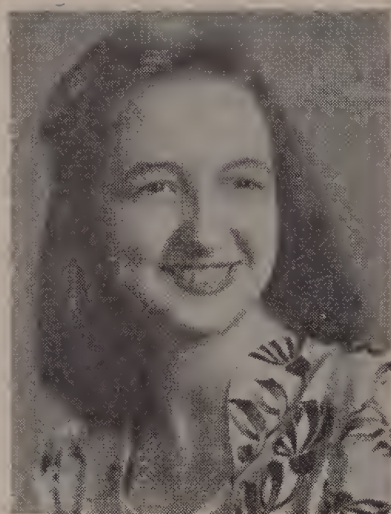

D. A. R. GIRL

Again this year the students and faculty have chosen a D. A. R. girl to represent Case High School. She is Florence Ingram, well known for her friendliness, high scholastic ability, and desire to help others. A member of the Class of 1948 and its secretary, her records of many meetings display her thoroughness and neatness.

Her talents are evidenced by Florence being in the Case High Girls' Chorus and the Cheerleading squad of which she has been captain for the past year.

Florence has chosen teaching as her probable profession and hopes to enter college in the fall.

The Class of 1948 wishes you the best of luck, Florence.

ORATORICAL CONTEST

The second annual high school oratorical contest was held in the school auditorium, Thursday, January 29, 1948. This contest, sponsored by the American Legion, as others throughout the United States, had five junior participants.

Each contestant wrote an essay on some phase of the Constitution which was delivered orally. Then came the real test. After the prepared orations had been delivered, each participant was given a subject on which he was to speak extemporaneously for four and six minutes.

After careful deliberation on the merits of the participating contestants; June Entwistle was chosen from the group consisting of June Entwistle, Lois Grover, James Leavitt, Roger Minville, and Richard Niswonger, to be the winner. The judges were Mr. J. Leo Ash, Mr. E. Norman Kershaw, and Mr. James Foster.

Miss Entwistle, whose subject was "The Rights and Responsibilities of a Citizen" also was victorious in the Bristol County contest but later was defeated in the Eastern Massachusetts event.

ORCHESTRA

The Joseph Case High School Orchestra, under the direction of Miss Ruth B. Eddy, is always ready and willing to serve when called upon. During the past year they have helped make Open House and the Minstrel Show a success.

GLEE CLUB

The newly organized Case High Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Ruth B. Eddy, Music Supervisor, has won much acclaim during their performances this year.

In May the members of the Glee Club presented a musical play, entitled, "The Old Maids' Convention."

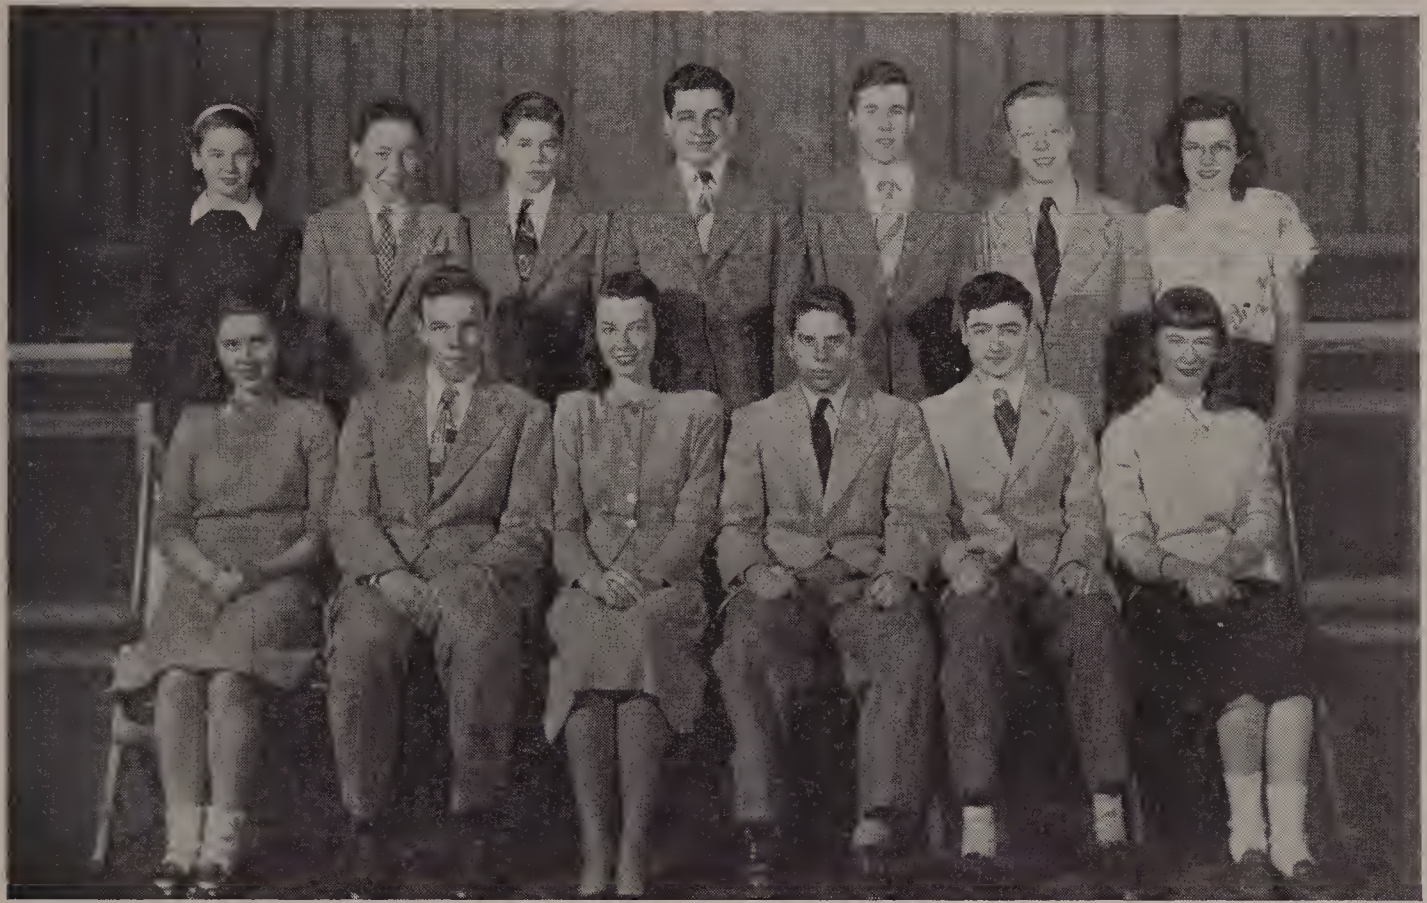

Throughout the season the officers were as follows:

President: Florence Ingram.

Treasurer: Ida Wood.

Secretary: Beverly Miller.

Pianists: Constance Misorski, Joan Kenworthy.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

OFFICERS

Antone Aguiar
Edward Lavagnino

Florence Ingram
Robert Barrow

MEMBERS

Norbert Moniz
Beverly Miller
Edward Hancock
Nancy Warburton

Diane Cardinal
Dana Nickerson
Jere Gray
Joy Deane

The members of the Student Council are the officers of the four classes, the Senior class officers serving as the chief directors of the Student Council.

Activities of the Council are: preparing rules and regulations for the student body, setting up standards of conduct and devising means for their enforcement, co-operating with the faculty on school problems, and promoting the welfare of the school in different ways through all organizations.

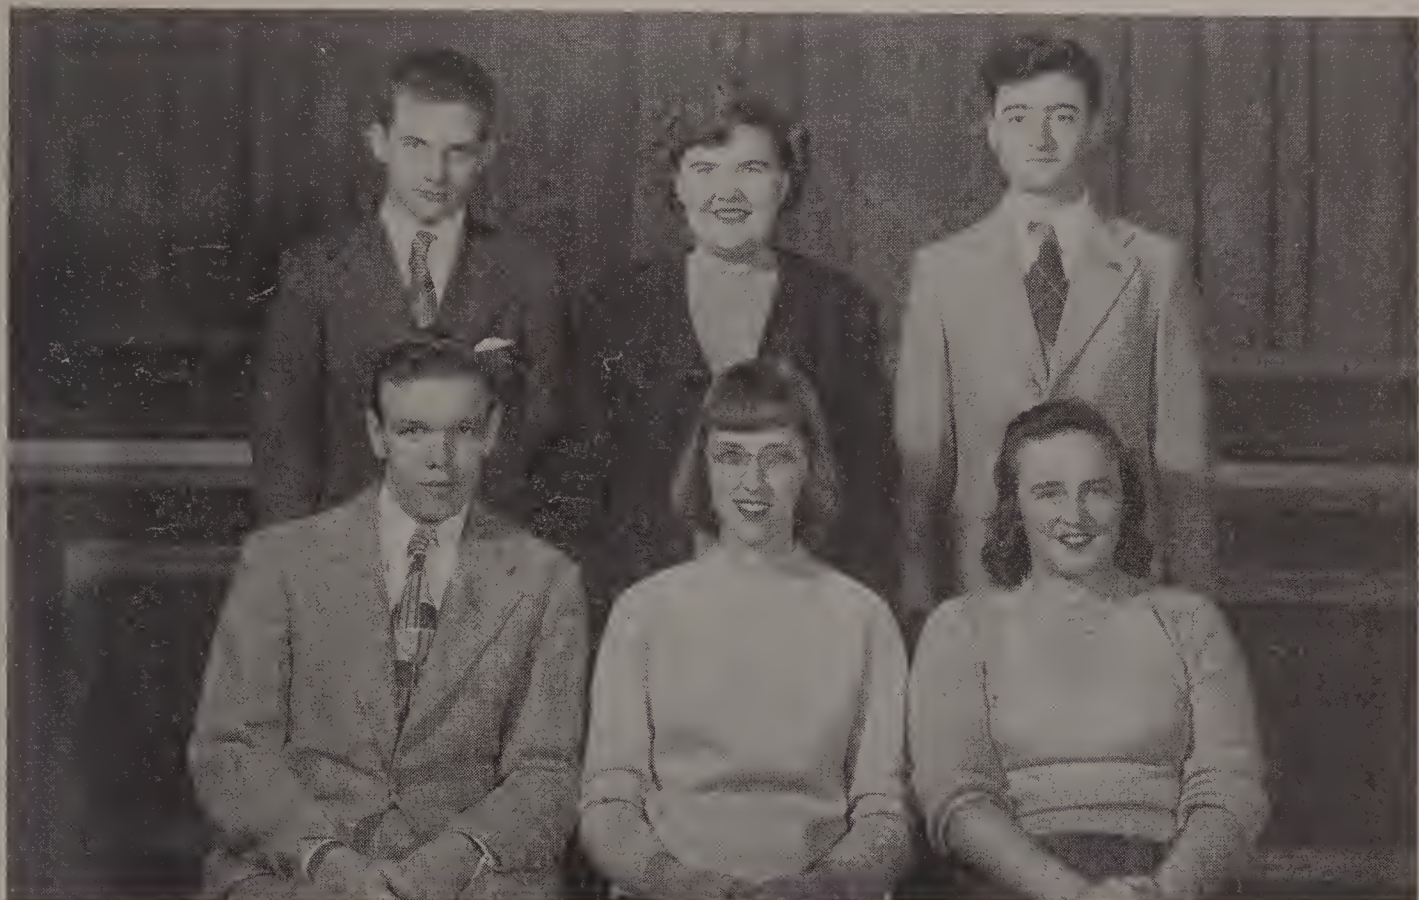

DRAMATIC CLUB

Under the very capable direction of Miss Helen Reagan the Case High Dramatic Club will complete another successful year. In conjunction with "The Old Maids' Convention", one-act plays were presented on Friday evening, May fourteenth.

The plays performed were: "Washington's First Defeat"—a comedy—by Charles Nirdlinger; "The Minuet"—a play in verse—by Louis Parker; and "A Midnight Fantasy" by Katherine Hunt.

All members who are in plays are entitled to have a club pin. This pin will be presented to each performing member at the closing curtain.

At the first meeting of "Le Cercle Francais" last fall, Mrs. Papandrea welcomed the new members. The editor-in-chief of the French paper "La Classicale" was James McCarthy. He was assisted by other members of the club.

A breakfast was held at the home of Madame Papandrea in November. Several parties were enjoyed thereafter.

The members of the "Le Cercle Francais" wish to express their thanks to Mrs. Papandrea for an enjoyable year.

"CARDINAL" STAFF

Early in the year the faculty chose several students to be on the Cardinal Staff. With their advisors, Miss Sullivan, Miss Harrington, and Mrs. Frost, this group put out the school's publication in the late fall.

The staff was comprised of the following students:

Co-editors: Arthur Beaudry and Constance Misiorski.

Business Manager: Charles Sowter.

Associate Editors: Charles Courchaine, Sam Buffington, Barbara Neubauer, Barbara Marr, Susanne Mocko.

Exchange Editor: Doris Moglia.

Publicity: Elizabeth Burrell, Beverly Miller.

Reporters: Annamae Daley, Susan Waring, Shirley Adams, Joy Deane.

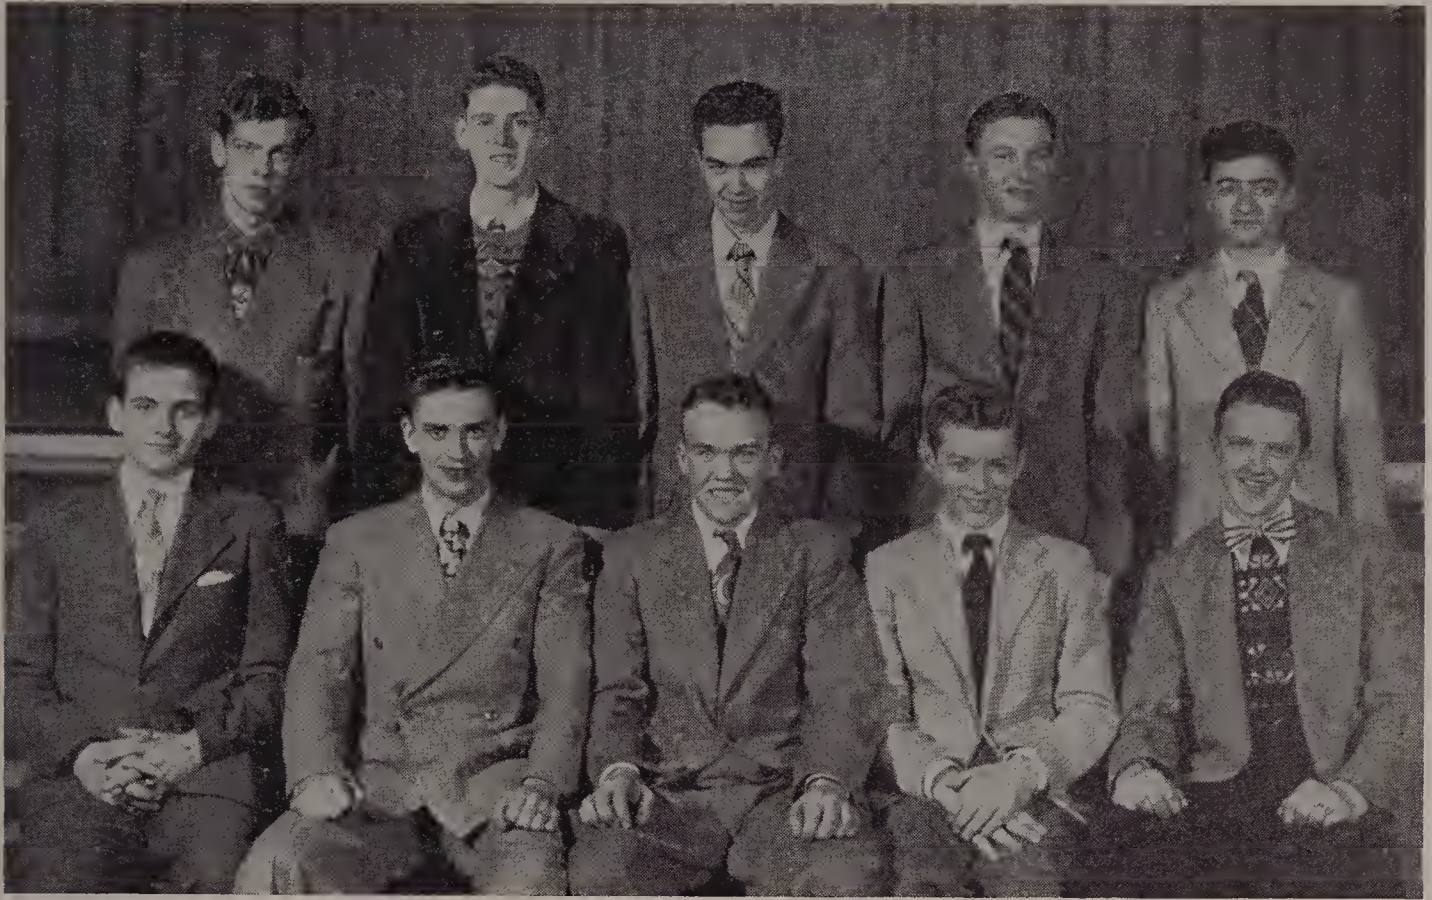

Typists: Dolores Pannoni, Doris Moglia, Claire Talbot, June Entwistle.

Sports: Tony Aguiar, Matt Roberts, Howell Swarm.

Art: Elizabeth Burrell, Charles Sowter, Annamae Daley, Wallace Sunderland, Susanne Mocko.

Humor: Frank Santos, Sam Buffington.

Assistant Business Manager: Florence Ingram, Augustus Archer, Douglas Borden.

PROJECTION CLUB

The members of the Projection Club, have had another pleasant and profitable year under the capable leadership of Mr. Edgar.

On April seventh, the members of the Club met in Room 21 and elected the following officers: President, James McCarthy; Vice-President, Matt Roberts; Treasurer, Douglas Borden; Secretary, Ronald Bumpus.

All classes in the school enjoyed the fascinating and instructive movies shown by the faithful members of this club.

The Projection Club is fast becoming one of the most popular clubs in the school. We, the graduating members of this club, wish it much future success, and many happy days in the years to come.

LIBRARY

This year marked the opening of a Case High School Library .An intricate part was played by Miss Sullivan and the librarians who remained faithful to their work of providing enjoyable reading for all students. Throughout the season many new books and worthwhile magazines were bought to fill to capacity the shelves of this busy workshop.

For this year the librarians elected the following officers to guide them:

President: Beverly Miller.
Vice-President: Robert Eddy.
Secretary: Marcia Wakefield.
Treasurer: Beverly Jakobson.

CHORUS

Another year of singing and choral speaking was enjoyed by the chorus and all who listened. Under the capable leadership of Miss Ruth B. Eddy, one hundred and thirteen Case High boys and girls participated in the activities of the year.

During the Christmas Season, "Peace On Earth" was presented for the Teacher's Club and the entire student body. A very successful Minstrel Show was presented March twelfth and thirteenth with Joanne Marr as director. To complete its project for the year, the choral group will sing Graduation evening.

Throughout the season the officers were as follows:

President: Florence Ingram.

Secretary: Beverly Miller.

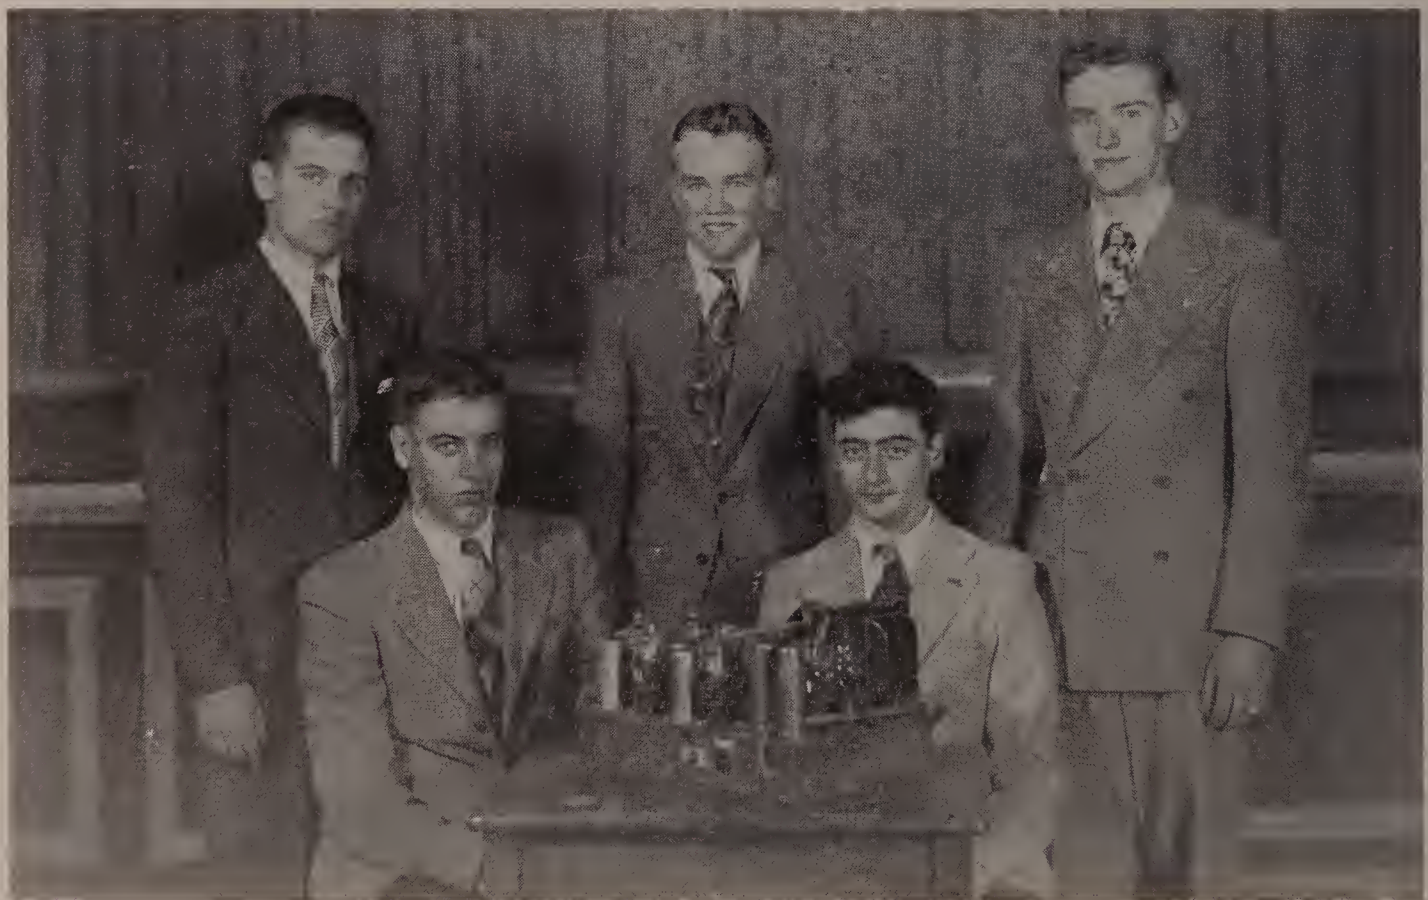

Treasurer: Ida Wood.

Pianists: Constance Misiorski, Joan Kenworthy, and Lois Grover.

Librarians: Susan Waring and Barbara Larrabee.

GOOD NEIGHBOR CLUB

RADIO CLUB

FOOTBALL

Case High was represented on the gridiron during the past season by a first team made up of seven seniors, three juniors, and one sophomore. The Cardinals started the year by downing Warren 6-0. At Stetson a stiff opponent was met, and Case walked away with a 12-6 defeat. Then came wins over Dartmouth and Nantucket. Both teams were soundly whipped—Dartmouth by a 19-6 score and Nantucket, 20-7. Next came the first Narry League night game, played at Durfee's Alumni Field. The opponent was Diman Vocational; the result was a 6-6 tie. In another Narry League game Dighton scored the major upset of the season by downing Case 6-0. St. Anthony of New Bedford; after putting up a stiff fight, lost to Case 12-6. The seniors knew that their next game would be their last and they wanted to win, not only because it was their last but also because the opposition was Somerset. The battle (and believe me, it was a battle) took place at the Seekonk Speedway. The crowd was estimated at five thousand. It was a clear cool Thanksgiving morning. It was even a much better day for Somerset who emerged the victors. Yes, Case and those seniors who really wanted to win put up the strongest possible kind of resistance but fell 6-0. With this win, Somerset won the Narry League title and completed an undefeated season.

Somewhere along the line the Cardinals traveled to Newton, and played St. Sebastian, a class "C" team. Again Case proved its determinateness; however, the Newton lads were too big and powerful, a 12-0 victory was the result. After the Newton game the squad, cheer leaders, the coach, the managers, and the advisors attended the Boston College-Villanova game as the guests of the Athletic Association. And so it was that Case closed its season with four wins, four losses and one tie. The boys who received letters were as follows: Wallace Sunderland, Norman Martin, Matthew Roberts, James Senay; Charles Courchaine, Henry Rose, William Reynolds, James Britland, Frank Santos, Tony Aguiar (co-captains), John Midwood, Paul Sprague, Robert Swain, Charles Lingard, Harry Rosen, Kenneth Dalzell, and Robert Duckworth, Edmund Souza, Robert Deubel, Robert Worthen and Herbert Chace.

CHEER LEADERS

"Yea Rha Rha Case." This is typical of the many cheers that were led by the Case High School Cheer Leaders, which boosted the morale of the players during many tense moments.

The girls were decked out in new uniforms of maroon skirts and jackets with gold trim, while the head cheer leader wore all gold with maroon trimmings.

Under the leadership of Miss Sullivan the cheer leaders organized a club and sponsored four events, the profits going toward their new uniforms.

The squad was made up of the following: Betty Burrell, Joan Gardner, Joan Hancock, Beverly Jacobson, Dorothy MacDonald, Barbara Marr, Jane Murray, and Susan Waring.

BASKETBALL

The Case High School Basketball team, suffering greatly from the lack of a gymnasium, had one of its poorest seasons.

Although losing every game but one, an outstanding 49 to 38 victory over heavily favored Dighton High, the Case team was in every game fighting right up until the final gun, no matter what the score was.

Although, finishing in dismal last place in Narry League competition, Case placed two players on the Fall River Herald All Narry Second team. They were: center Robert Swain and right forward Tony Aguiar.

Lettermen were Captain Frank Santos, Tony Aguiar, Arthur Beaudry, James Britland, Herman Howarth, James Leavitt, William Reynolds, Wallace Sunderland, Robert Swain—captain elect, and student managers, Robert Cook and Edward Lavagnino.

We all hope for a better season in "49."

BASEBALL

Bright and early this spring Coach Bob Bannister called out a group of twenty-five aspiring young hopefuls, willing and eager for varsity berths.

The squad's apprehension and anticipation for the coming season was at fever pitch. Seven veterans of last year's Narry League Champions returned once more to fight for the honor of Case in that great American pastime—Baseball.

After a mediocre football and a poor basketball season, the prestige of the Cardinals has got to be and most certainly will be upheld by the high flying Baseball Cards.

Members of the team who received letters were as follows: John Midwood—Captain, Antone Aguiar, Edmund Souza, Wallace Sunderland, James Britland, Vergine, Moniz, William Reynolds, Frank Santos, Paul Sprague, Robert Johnson, Charles Kenyon, James Leavitt, Edward Lavagnino, James McCarthy, Arthur Beaudry.

ALMA MATER

Our strong bond can ne'er be broken.
Form'd in dear Case High
Far surpassing wealth unspoken,
Seal'd by friendships' tie.

Chorus: Alma Mater—Alma Mater
Deep graven on each heart
Ode victorious, we go singing
As from these halls we depart.

Mem'ry's leaflets close shall twine
Around our hearts for aye
And waft us back o'er life's braod track
To pleasures of past day.

Chorus: High School life at best is passing
Gliding swiftly by
Then let us pledge in work and deed
Our love for dear Case High.

Dot: "I know a girl whose personality is spilt three ways."

Al: "Oh, my back! What a shame."

Dot: "Yes, she's half French, half Dutch, and half crazy."

Annamae: "I lost a lot of money last week."

Joan: "How come?"

Annamae: "I proposed to a wealthy real estate man, Fred Martin, and he refused."

Mr. Hurley: "Your driving is miserable. Why don't you stay on the road?"

Paul: "I've just had the car washed and can't do a thing with it."

John: "How did your father know you had the car out last night?"

Charlie: "Oh, I ran across him."

Ed: "Do you like codfish balls?"

Tony: "Don't know. I never went to any."

It's tough to live the life of a moth. He spends the summer in a fur coat and the winter in a bathing suit.

Dooley: "I know a man who could pick any lock anywhere in the world."

Bob: "I know one lock he can't pick."

Dooley: "Yeah, Where is that?"

Bob: "The third lock in the Panama Canal."

Mr. Bannister: "I wouldn't chew gum if I were you. Don't you know gum is made out of horses' hoofs?"

Lucretia: "Sure Do. That's why I get a kick out of it."

"Well, that closes another chapter in my live," said the Frosh as he was thrown into the dam."
